Dr. Bach Le Becomes Lifetime Honorary Member of the American College of Prosthodontists

CHICAGO — Bach Le, DDS, MD, FICD, has become a lifetime Honorary Member of the American College of Prosthodontists (ACP). Dr. Le was recognized during the 44th Annual Session of the American College of Prosthodontists in New Orleans from Nov. 5-8, 2014.

Dr. Le is a clinical associate professor of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery at the University of Southern California School of Dentistry. During ACP's annual session, Dr. Le led a bone grafting course to teach a new generation of Prosthodontists implant surgical procedures.

“Dr. Le’s yearly presentations and hands-on courses about implant placement and bone grafting during ACP Annual Scientific Sessions have been sold out and repeatedly received the highest praise from our members,” ACP immediate past president Dr. John R. Agar said. “We are so fortunate to have Dr. Le join the College as an honorary member. He’s a wonderful addition, and I’m thrilled it happened during my tenure as ACP president.”

Each year, the ACP selects up to three individuals for the honorary membership of the College. This membership is exclusively for individuals who do not qualify for any other membership category but have made significant clinical or scientific contributions to the discipline and/or specialty of Prosthodontics or have provided substantial support for the educational or research programs of the College. Honorary members are nominated by three active members or Fellows. The honorary membership of the College is a lifetime status.

Prosthodontists are specialized dentists with advanced training in oral health issues, who are committed to improving patient outcomes. From implants, crowns, veneers and tooth whitening, to full-mouth reconstruction, Prosthodontists specialize in digital dentistry and CAD/CAM solutions.

The ACP is the only prosthodontic specialty organization whose membership is based solely on education credentials. ACP members must be in or have completed an ADA-accredited advanced education program in Prosthodontics.
