ACP Activities Summary:
2016 National Prosthodontics Awareness Week
As of 5-10-2016

Pro Bono Care/Oral Health and/or Cancer Screenings

- Canada: In Winnipeg, ACP Members Dr. Cecilia Dong, Dr. Igor Pesun, and Dr. Charlene Solomon participated in Free Oral Cancer Checks at the Polo Park Shopping Center during National Prosthodontics Awareness Week. Dr. Pesun arranged to have the ACP oral cancer video playing during the event.

- North Carolina: The University of North Carolina Graduate Prosthodontics crew celebrated NPAW with their annual community service project of providing new smiles to a group of deserving patients. The graduate residents, faculty, and staff rallied together to fabricate new denture prostheses for 7 patients from the local community. Most of these patients had been edentulous and without prostheses for many years and were without means or access to care. The UNC Grad Pros team extends a special dedication to prosthodontics department chair, Dr. Robert Wright, who passed away unexpectedly in April: "We all would like to dedicate our NPAW in his memory and express our gratitude to him for the support he provided us as chair of our department."

Open Houses

- California: Dr. Ronald Koslowski invited over 30 dentists, business colleagues, and staff members to his office for a double celebration. They were acknowledging National Prosthodontics Awareness Week and Dr. Koslowski being at his Encino practice for 15 years!
- Connecticut: UConn prosthodontic residents hosted an “Open Lab Night” during NPAW. Residents throw open the doors to the resident lab to host a lab open-house for dental students. Students were encouraged to bring cases with questions, and dinner was provided. Residents also showed the students lab “tricks of the trade” such as waxing techniques, fabrication of a surgical guide, beautifying casts, and festooning dentures.
• Michigan: Drs. Priebe and Wiens hosted an open house and invited referring doctors and their staff to celebrate NPAW on the opening day of the Detroit Tiger’s Baseball Game. Over 100 guests attended.

• Pennsylvania: Pi Dental Center hosted an Open House after an aggressive marketing campaign with flyers, billboards, radio appearances, e-mail blasts, and visits to local businesses. Within the first two days of the open house, Pi Dental Center had already seen an increase with 9 new patients that were interested in learning about the benefits of prosthodontics.

Professional Presentations

• Massachusetts: The advanced graduate prosthodontics program at Harvard School of Dental Medicine held an Advanced Prosthodontics Forum on March 17, 2016. Their residents and faculty gave short presentations on various topics of prosthodontics. Thirty six participants including predoctoral students, faculty, and residents attended the forum.

• Missouri: On April 6, Dr. Charles Goodacre presented at the UMKC School of Dentistry. His topic was “Computer-Aided Engineering of Complete Dentures and Implant Prostheses.” 40 students attended.

• Missouri: Dr. Charles Goodacre was the featured speaker at the Dr. Dan Cruz Memorial Lecture on April 7 at the Midwest Dental Conference. 49 individuals attended.

• Pennsylvania: Dr. Eva Anadioti held an information session for all students at Penn, Temple, VA, and Einstein hospitals in the Philadelphia area. After the session, students were invited to attend a networking event with prosthodontists from Philadelphia and New Jersey to inspire post-graduate studies in prosthodontics.

• Texas: Dr. Ben Ross gave a presentation entitled "Prosthodontics Potpourri" to the Fort Hood, Texas Army Dental Activity. 35 dentists and specialists attended.
Lunch & Learns

- Arizona: Dr. Clark Chen at the Arizona School of Dentistry and Oral Health prosthodontics department held two lunch and learns during NPAW. Dr. Chen gave a review of dental materials and its application to prosthodontic procedures to second year dental students who are transitioning into seeing live patients in the clinic. Dr. Matthew Kahn gave a presentation on his full mouth rehabilitation board case to third and fourth year students.

- Connecticut: At UConn, prosthodontic residents collaborated with the pre-doctoral prosthodontics interest group to sponsor a lunch and learn. Dr. Avinash Bidra gave a 45-minute informational presentation on the specialty of prosthodontics including “who we are,” “what we do,” and finished with an interesting review of a few of his own cases. Approximately 40 dental students, years 1-4, attended the session.

- Indiana: The Indiana University School of Dentistry hosted a lunch and learn to inform postdoctoral students in prosthodontics and predoctoral dental students about what prosthodontics is, and what a graduate prosthodontics program consists of. There were about 100 people in attendance.

- Kentucky: Dr. Stapleton hosted an event for the D4 dental students at the University of Kentucky.

- Nebraska: Drs. Alvin Wee, Andrea Hall, and Kirstin McCarville hosted a lunch and learn at Creighton University School of Dentistry. They included a presentation which highlighted their dental students and patients, and then the event ended with Prosthodontic Jeopardy.

- Virginia: Dr. Karen McAndrew and her team hosted a lunch and learn bingo event at their education facility. 27 support team members attended the event, enjoying a delicious catered lunch. Prizes were awarded to the winners.

- Wisconsin: Drs. Carl Drago and Nate Farley spoke at a daily lunch lecture at Gundersen Health System, which was attended by 50 doctors and residents. The presentation gave information about prosthodontics and how the department works with a variety of different departments throughout their hospital.
Community Public Outreach

- Connecticut: Drs. Avinash Bidra, Tom Taylor, and John Agar celebrated NPAW at the University of Connecticut with their 8 prosthodontic residents. Throughout the week, residents staffed an NPAW informational booth in the busy UConn Health Center cafeteria during lunch hours. Throughout the month of April, NPAW “advertisement” slides were shown on loop on informational monitors in the hospital cafeteria and all main entrances.

![Connecticut NPAW event]

- Georgia: Georgia Prosthodontics offered a chance to win a four day cruise to the Bahamas for two people. In order to be eligible to win, individuals must have liked their Facebook page, shared their Facebook page, and tagged Georgia Prosthodontists along with three friends.

- Kentucky: Dr. Brandon Stapleton had Lexington, KY Mayor Jim Gray to officially declare April 3-9, 2016 as National Prosthodontics Awareness Week in their city. Dr. Stapleton received a plaque commemorating this honor.

- Pennsylvania: Dr. Robert Bentz shared pictures of him with his patients, as well as a sign promoting NPAW outside of his office. For patients, he provided NPAW cookies along with red and blue carnations.

![Pennsylvania NPAW event]

- Pennsylvania: Dr. Eva Anadioti played a NPAW video on a screen in University of Pennsylvania’s main office for patients, students, faculty, and staff to see. She also provided an NPAW banner to take pictures with, which were featured on their Prosthodontics Club Website.

- Louisiana: Dr. Abdallah Awada provided three second-year dental students the opportunity to be prosthodontists for two days. The students, chosen by lottery, actively engaged in advanced treatment alongside prosthodontic residents; participated in evidence-based seminar sessions; learned clinical and laboratory tips/tricks; received hands-on exposure in clinical/portrait photography; and had the opportunity to produce work to be presented alongside prosthodontic residents at the ACP Annual Session.

- Massachusetts: To celebrate NPAW, Drs. Steven Spitz and Noah Orenstein gave patients a chance to win two Boston Red Sox tickets. To be eligible to win, individuals had to go to Smile Boston’s Facebook page to play two truths and a lie with the prosthodontists. Individuals who guessed the lie correctly were entered into a drawing.
• Missouri: The Missouri and Kansas ACP Sections combined and provided a dinner at the UMKC School of Dentistry. Dr. John Ball was joined by Dr. Charles Goodacre and the UMKC Advanced Restorative Honor students. 30 people attended.

![Missouri Image]

• North Carolina: Dr. Young Kang displayed five new NPAW posters created in Fort Bragg throughout four different dental clinics to spread awareness.

• Ohio: At the Ohio State University College of Dentistry, residents had a table in the student lounge and showed pictures of their patient care and answered questions regarding prosthodontics with dental students during lunch. About 75 dental students participated.

• Texas: Dr. Yepez celebrated NPAW by posting signs featuring the logo around her office, as well as visiting senior centers to inform senior citizens of the benefits of visiting a prosthodontist. She also celebrated with referral doctors from around the area. Dr. Yepez created a video to announce the activities she had planned for NPAW.

![Texas Image]

• Virginia: Dr. Karen McAndrew and her team promoted NPAW by delivering 200 tins of popcorn to their dental friends in the Richmond, Midlothian, Mechanicsville, Goochland, and Glen Allen communities. They also greeted every patient with a cup and told them about NPAW, as well as displayed the Certificate of Recognition signed by Governor Terrence McAuliffe, where he officially recognized National Prosthodontics Awareness Week.

• Virginia: Dr. Scott Miller sent out tooth-shaped NPAW cookies to his local area.

- New York: Dr. Louis DeSantis posted a photo of himself in an ACP hat with the caption “National Prosthodontics Awareness Week”
  - Facebook Post
Hi Carolyn and Susan, I wanted to send over the performance on the National Prosthodontics Awareness Week campaign that we ran last week. The ad drove some good engagement on Facebook!

Placement: Facebook

- Post Engagement: 343 engagements
- 140 likes, 3 comments, 16 shares
- 184 clicks to the infographic
- Reach: 9,403 people
- This reached our audience via mobile newsfeed 98% of the time and via desktop newsfeed 2% of the time
- Spend: $50.00
- Duration: April 5th-9th, 2016

The NPAW ad campaign was set up as a CPC campaign, or ‘Cost Per Click campaign.’ The objective of this campaign was to maximize the clicks to the website that linked to the infographic PDF.

1. What is a typical benchmark?
   a. The cost per engagement of this campaign was $0.15 per click, and in this case the cost is defined as the average you paid for each action associated with your objective. Comparing this to other CPC campaigns that we currently have running that cost $0.27 per click, $0.40 per click, and $0.50 per click, this campaign had a lower cost while increasing engagement. In sum, this campaign performed optimally.

2. What factors are considered to measure “good” engagement?
   a. There are several factors that are used to measure “good” engagement. If an ad has a lot of ‘likes’ and ‘shares,’ it signals high-quality content that is being delivered to the right people. But this is not the ‘end-all, be-all’ to engagement. Good engagement ultimately depends on the goal of the campaign, and in this case, our success should be measured based on the number of clicks to the PDF link. It displays there was a vested interest of your content toward our audience of dental professionals.

3. What do you recommend in the future to improve this?
   a. To further improve the campaign in the future, I would recommend hosting the infographic as a ‘downloadable’ file on your website. That way we are driving traffic to your website, while also encouraging our audience to download the infographic. You could also use this opportunity to create a lead generation form where you can capture customer/audience information before they download the infographic (i.e. Name, Title/Position, State, etc.)

4. Why do you think we got good engagement?
   a. One of the reasons that we had good engagement on this campaign was our ability to target a very niche audience through Facebook – we have the unique ability to get our content in front of the right audience through the different email lists that we target. We also believe this ad had good engagement because it was quality content based on a national campaign (NPAW), which clearly resonated with our audience.

5. Is there anything you wanted to do yet we didn’t that could help in the future?
   a. Please see the answer to question 4!
