of the American College of Prosthodontists

CHICAGO — Stephen A. Wagner, DDS, FACP, has been installed as prosthodontic practice and patient care division director to the board of directors of the American College of Prosthodontists (ACP). Dr. Wagner was sworn in at the Annual Awards & Presidents Dinner, during the 44th Annual Session of the American College of Prosthodontists held in New Orleans from Nov. 5-8, 2014.

Based in Albuquerque, N.M., Dr. Wagner is highly passionate about improving patient outcomes and is a dedicated clinician to the Prosthodontic specialty. His dental images have been used by the New York Times, ABC News, The Discovery Chanel, Newsweek, and the American Dental Association (ADA). His research led him to create the Wagner Impression Tray that simplified the work process in removable Prosthodontics. It's become favorable for many dental professionals, because it's easier to use while taking tray impressions. The ACP may begin offering the tray to its members.

Prosthodontists are specialized dentists with advanced training in oral health issues, who are committed to improving patient outcomes. From implants, crowns, veneers and tooth whitening, to full-mouth reconstruction, Prosthodontists specialize in digital dentistry and CAD/CAM solutions.

The ACP is the only prosthodontic specialty organization whose membership is based solely on education credentials. ACP members must be in or have completed an ADA-accredited advanced education program in Prosthodontics.
