Dr. Steven M. Morgano Re-Elected to Represent the Northeast Region on the ACP Board of Directors
Rutgers Professor to Serve Two More Years

CHICAGO – Steven M. Morgano, DMD, FACP, was re-elected as Regional Membership Director of the Northeast Region for the Board of Directors of the American College of Prosthodontists (ACP), the national organization representing the dental specialty of prosthodontics.

The Northeast Region covers the eastern coast of the United States from Maine to New Jersey. As the Regional Membership Director, Dr. Morgano will be a vital communication link between the ACP Board of Directors and the prosthodontists in his region. This is his second term in the role, having already served for two years.

“I am both honored and humbled to have been re-elected,” said Dr. Morgano.

Dr. Morgano is a Fellow of the ACP, a past president of the Massachusetts section and has been a member of the College since 1979. He has taught at eight dental schools, including Boston University and Harvard School of Dental Medicine, and at universities in Kuwait and Dubai. He is currently a professor and chairman of the Department of Restorative Dentistry at Rutgers School of Dental Medicine.

Dr. Morgano received his DMD degree from Tufts University School of Dental Medicine, completed his General Practice Residency at Philadelphia General Hospital, and received his specialty certificate in prosthodontics from the Hines Veterans Affairs Medical Center in 1979. He practiced as staff prosthodontist for the Department of Veterans Affairs for 15 years before devoting himself to academics full-time. Dr. Morgano is also a Diplomate of the American Board of Prosthodontics.

About Prosthodontists

A prosthodontist is a dental specialist who focuses on the restoration and replacement of damaged or missing teeth and correcting other defects of oral or facial issues. With their advanced training, prosthodontists are able to help patients with implants, dentures and veneers, all the way to full mouth and jaw reconstructions.

About the ACP

The American College of Prosthodontists (ACP) is the only ADA recognized organization for the specialty of prosthodontics, and is the only prosthodontic organization whose membership is based solely on educational credentials. Founded in 1970, the ACP is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to enhancing patient care, advancing the art and science of prosthodontics, promoting the specialty of prosthodontics to the public and other dentists and healthcare professionals, ensuring the quality of prosthodontic education and providing professional services to its membership.
