Dr. Stephen D. Campbell Honored by the American College of Prosthodontists Education Foundation
UIC Educator Recognized for Philanthropic Efforts

CHICAGO – The American College of Prosthodontists Education Foundation (ACPEF) is proud to announce Stephen D. Campbell, DDS, MMSc, FACP, as the recipient of the 2018 Founders Society Award. This award recognizes those who have made a significant impact on the growth and development of the Foundation, which secures resources to advance the specialty of prosthodontics.

“I am honored by this very kind recognition,” said Dr. Campbell. “This award reflects the importance of relationships, and I am deeply appreciative of the incredible individuals I have had the opportunity to share this journey with. To all those that have worked so tirelessly to make a difference for our patients and communities, thank you!”

Throughout his career, Dr. Campbell has been dedicated to improving dental education and standards of care. He served on the ACPEF Board of Directors for over 12 years, including time as chair, and led fundraising initiatives that secured resources for pivotal projects. This includes the Digital Dentistry Curriculum initiative, implant education, and advocacy for dental specialty residents, faculty and private practitioners.

“Dr. Campbell has had a significant role in making the Foundation an institution that our donors, members, and corporate partners are proud to support,” said Dr. Leonard Kobren, Chair of the ACPEF.

Dr. Campbell is a tenured professor, director of the Implant and Innovations Center, and director of the Center for Digital Excellence at the University of Illinois at Chicago. He served as head of the Department of Restorative Dentistry from 1992 to 2018. He is a past president of the ACP, and the American Board of Prosthodontics (ABP). Dr. Campbell has also served as Prosthodontics Commissioner with the Commission on Dental Accreditation of the American Dental Association.

About Prosthodontists

A prosthodontist is a dental specialist who focuses on the restoration and replacement of missing teeth and other oral or facial issues. Prosthodontists specialize in helping patients with implants, dentures and veneers, all the way to full mouth and jaw reconstructions.

About the ACP

The American College of Prosthodontists (ACP) is the only ADA recognized organization for the specialty of prosthodontics. Founded in 1970, the ACP is dedicated to advancing the art and science of prosthodontics and promoting the specialty to the public and dental professionals.
